SPECIAL YOUTH ISSUE

YOUNG WORKERS ARE ON THE MOVE! BUILD THE Y.C.L!

By CHARLES KRUMBEIN

The need for building and strengthening the Y.C.L. should be obvious to all. This is especially true if we make an analysis of the recent strikes, particularly in New York City, as well as other actions that the party has initiated. We, saw in the strikes that the young workers constituted a very large percentage of the strikers. We saw also their militancy in the strikes as well as in other actions. We know that at the recent U. S. Congress Against War the youth not only had a large representation, but they played a very important role in the Congress. All of which leads us to one conclusion, namely, that the youth are receptive to our message and are ready for organization.

In approaching the youth we reach a strata of the working class that is least poisoned by social democratic traditions. They can immediately become an important factor in all work since we have only the problem of teaching them our methods and not like with many of the adult workers where we have to break down their old conceptions before we can teach them our new methods. This is very important in connection with our task in carrying out the recent Open Letter.

An important question we must always have in mind, based on the experiences in other countries, is that if we continue our isolation from the masses of youth and fail to lead struggles for their needs, they may become a potential base for mass fascist organization. If we reach them with our militant programs of immediate demands, as well as our revolutionary way out of the crisis, they can be won to the revolutionary movement.

Our party has the task of understanding the problems of the youth and on the basis of this understanding raising their grievances and demands in every bit of work we do.

We must break with the old approach of a few general slogans and demands and concretely put forth slogans and demands that the youth will understand and rally to. If we do this properly we lay the base for building a mass Y.C.L. In connection with this we must make very serious efforts not only to involve the youth in all our campaigns, struggles and actions, but also draw them into the leadership of all our organizations and actions.

We must constantly keep our eyes open for active young workers with the object of recruiting them into the Y.C.L. In the meantime, on the basis of our past work, every Party comrade must know of at least one young worker from a shop, trade union, mass organization or block who can be approached for joining the Y.C.L. Our present recruiting campaign must be made a recruiting campaign for the Y.C.L. as well as the Party. Recruiting must be done especially from our points of concentration and our most important trade unions.

Every shop nucleus in a shop where any substantial number of young workers are employed, should immediately set itself the task of building a Y.C.L. nucleus in the particular shop by taking the question up at the next meeting of the shop nucleus. At this meeting each comrade should report about the young workers he knows in the shop and then the shop nucleus as a whole should decide upon three or more young workers to concentrate on for the purpose of bringing them into the Y.C.L. and thereby establishing a Y.C.L. nucleus in the shop.

Let us get away from the abstract handling of this question, the putting forth of abstract slogans and concretely take up the question on the basis of what is said above. In this way we will really build a mass Y.C.L. for which the Party has the main responsibility.

Some Decisions of the District Buro on Building the Y.C.L.

1. That the Party sets itself a quota of 200 young workers to be recruited by the Party membership for the Y.C.L. up to January 15th.

2. That the Org. Dept. of the District take up the problem of recruiting into the Y.C.L. and sets definite quotas for the Party sections.

3. That a discussion be arranged with the section organizers on the responsibility of the sections towards the Y.C.L.

4. That on December 13th a meeting be called of all trade union leaders at which meeting a thorough discussion on Youth work will take place.

5. That the Party assign forces in the sections, whose main task should be to build the Y.C.L.

6. That the District Org. Dept. in conjunction with the Party sections pick several party nuclei the main task of which should be the building of Y.C.L. nuclei by January 15th.

7. That at every meeting of functionaries concrete tasks should be outlined in order to orientate the Party membership to reach the youth and build the Y.C.L.

8. That a member of the Party District Buro be assigned as the representative to the District Secretariat of the Y.C.L.

9. That on the basis of the December 19th registration all comrades under 24 years of age should be considered for the Y.C.L.

Criminal Negligence.

Two weeks ago a membership book and transfer was brought to the District Office by the membership director of Section Eight. The transfer had been issued to the member some time in July and reached the district at the end of November. This Party member was only a few weeks in the Party and because of the criminal negligence of the Section functionary who handled the case he has been lost to the Party.

Immediate action will be taken in the future

The Election Campaign and the Communist Party

TELLS HOW TO POLL BIG RED VOTE

By I. Amler

Why do Communists participate in election campaigns? We take advantage of every opportunity that the capitalist class gives us for bringing the program and demands of our Party before the masses. It is in the election campaign, and at times of elections, that the masses think most strongly in terms of government. Filled with the notion that they, the workers and farmers, elect the government, they determine for themselves what is most essential for their welfare.

To be sure, their thinking is not only influenced but in the main dictated by the propaganda and other influences exerted by the capitalist class through the press, movie, radio, church, etc. Nevertheless, considering that their vote is supposed to be secret, the masses are filled with the idea that "democracy" is full-fledged, and they, the masses, determine that "democracy".

LINK UP CAMPAIGNS

To fail to participate in the elections would mean to isolate ourselves from these masses and to leave them victims to the capitalist and whole fascist parties. Hence the social Party must throw its forces into the election campaign, tying up all the struggles on the picket line, for relief, for unemployment insurance, the right to organize, against the use of police power, etc. with the election campaign.

Of course, it would be a serious mistake to neglect the basic work of the Party—shop, union, Negro and unemployed work—in the course of the campaign. On the contrary, if the shop work is carried on properly, the linking up of the election campaign with all the struggles of the workers and farmers, the Negro people, etc., is easy, self-evident and understandable by the masses.

EXPLODE FAKE THEORIES

This year the campaign is of extreme importance. One year of the N.R.A. with its complete failure as far as the conditions and rights of the masses are concerned! This year, with more than 1½ years of Roosevelt, it is easy to explode the idea of the "good man" personified by Roosevelt, who is still considered as somewhat of a messiah by the masses, supposedly fighting for the "forgotten man" against the chiselers, the die-hards among the capitalists etc. This year, after about 2½ million workers have gone out on strike, after the workers on relief jobs and the unemployed have put up militant battles, after the Negroes have shown such splendid examples of fighting spirit—and particularly after the federal, state and local governments have shown their hand, the masses are ready to respond—and are responding. This is to be noted in the good meetings in all parts of the country where the Communist Party had not yet penetrated. Real interest has been shown by new workers—manifesting a willingness to listen to the program of the Communist Party, because it corresponds with their own experiences.

ONLY PART OF STRUGGLE

We do not tell the masses that they will liberate themselves from the capitalist system by means of the ballot. We make it perfectly clear that the election campaign is part of the struggle—part of the task of mobilizing the masses for (Continued on page 2)

Example of Bolshevik Work in Czarist Duma

"The struggle at Lessner's factories (St. Petersburg) was the most striking event in the working-class movement of 1913. The Party was intimately concerned in it. . . .

"During the struggle about 18,000 rubles were collected—the largest sum ever collected during a strike. All money was first sent to the Duma fraction . . . and regularly acknowledged the receipt of all donations in Pravda. . . .

"With the growth of the movement, the connections of our fraction (in the Duma) with the masses became closer. During the Duma summer recess, as during the other intervals, the deputies returned to work in the regions from which they had been elected and I alone remained in St. Petersburg . . . to perform the work which was usually divided among our six deputies.

"Workers would call on me to ask all sorts of questions, especially on pay-days when money to aid strikers was brought. Each worker who came with a contribution asked many questions.

"I had to arrange to supply passports and secret hiding places, for those who became 'illegal,' help to find work for those victimized during strikes, petition ministers on behalf of those arrested, organize aid for exiles, etc. Where there were signs that a strike was flagging, it was necessary to take steps to instill vigour into the strikers, to lend the aid required and to print and send leaflets. Moreover, I was constantly consulted on personal matters.

"There was not a single factory or workshop, down to the smallest, with which I was not connected in some way or other. Often my callers were so numerous that my apartment was not large enough for them, and they had to wait in a queue on the staircase. Every successive stage in the struggle, every new strike, increased these queues which symbolised the growing unity between the workers and the fraction and at the same time furthered the organization of the masses."

A. Badayev, former deputy in the last Russian Duma.

AN INDUCTION COURSE OF STUDY FOR NEW MEMBERS OF THE Y.C.L.
LIBRARY OF CONGRESS
9 1978
EXCHANGE & GIFT DIVISION
#25

"Introducing the Y. C. L."

(In four sessions - an instruction guide)

Purpose of this course of study:

This class has a three fold purpose that must be borne in mind constantly:

- a) In this class the new member is receiving his first acquaintanceship with the YCL as an organization. The problem before the class is how to make the new member feel that the YCL is his or her organization; to help to integrate and make the new member "feel at home" in the League organization; to develop a strong sense of loyalty to the League.
- b) To give the new member a general grasp of our program and policies; to stimulate the desire to learn more and to engage in further study, especially in the study of the writings of Earl Browder.
- c) To inspire the new member to become a regular REVIEW reader and a League Builder who will recruit friends and relatives, fellow students, shop workers or members of his organization.

THE RULES OF ORGANIZATION

The following principles should guide the organization of the class:

- a) The attendance at this class is the first assignment for every new member, to be undertaken as soon as possible after he or she joins the League. Until completion of the class, the new member is to be given no other League assignment!!
- b) At the completion of the course of study, the new member is to be interviewed by the Branch Executive Committee, at which time the future activities of the new member will be discussed, and suggestions will be made for further study; that is self-study and reading, attendance at a class or a workers school.
- c) The District, Section or City Committee of the League is to be directly responsible for the conduct of these classes and is to determine the basis for grouping together new members in classes according to common interest and background, etc. The classes may be organized on a branch, section or city-wide scale; or may be organized for different categories of people, that is, students, trade unionists, etc.

Instructors and Methods:

The selection of a competent instructor is of basic importance. Leading comrades should teach these classes. Good preparation and adequate supplementary reading is absolutely necessary for the instructor. After all, the new member will form his impressions of the League largely on the basis of this class and the type of leadership he gets from the instructor. We would rec-

WESTERN FRONT NOW!

BIDDLE VS. U.S.A.

The whole labor movement was outraged at the order for the deportation of Harry Bridges. It strikes at national unity and threatens production for victory.

Work stoppages in protest were voted by Bridges. "The main fight is still against Hitler and Japan," he said. "We can let nothing deter us from this job."

Bridges' support of the war is superlatively valuable. He aided the Tonney Committee. He organized the Longshoremen's Disaster Committee for civilian defense. Under the Bridges Plan, ships have been "turned around" in record time.

Biddle's brazen vote of previous findings is all the more high-handed when it becomes obvious that his order directly contradicted established government--and popular--policy: direct every effort to winning the war. This year, Bridges was like a dynamo, working full-time for war. To stop a dynamo--or Bridges--is treason in these times.

France silenced labor; she fell. Till President Roosevelt and Biddle that we need Bridges to help win the war. Write today.

At Dunkirk, using a navy of hastily manned fishing boats, and with the full power of the Luftwaffe overhead, the Allied armies made a safe and speedy retreat. Now, with air supremacy in Allied hands, with adequate naval protection, why not a Dunkirk in reverse?

The war will be decided in Eurasia this year. It is in Eurasia that 75% of the world's population lives.

Today, only India, Iran, and Turkey stand between the Nazi and Japanese armies. If the two are able to swing a huge noose around the occupied territories and the Soviet Union, the United States and Great Britain will be left isolated.

Obviously, then, the Western Front NOW is urgent---not only to help the gallant Soviet Union, but also as a part of our offensive against the world strategy of the Fascists. NOW, while three hundred German divisions are engaged on the Eastern Front---NOW, while Britain is crammed with four million troops. Fascist strategy is global. There are numerous places where we can lose this war, but exactly one where we can win it. Defeat the Nazis with a WESTERN FRONT NOW!

HITLER'S SECRET WEAPON — THE BOGEY OF COMMUNISM

By EARL BROWDER

Text of Lincoln Day Address by Earl Browder, General Secretary of the Communist Party, at Baltimore, on Feb. 12, 1943.)

THERE is deep significance for today in the fact that we combine in this meeting the commemoration of Abraham Lincoln, America's foremost contribution to the world leadership of democratic liberation, and of Vladimir Lenin, founder of the Soviet Power which at this moment is liberating the world from the menace of fascism.

In the joining of these two commemorations in one, we are expressing the understanding, now general among the American people, that the destinies of these two countries are intertwined, that close and ever closer relations of cooperation inevitably arise from the deepest of common interests.

At this moment the common interests of the United States and the Soviet Union are expressed in the goal of victory over Hitlerism. When the Axis is destroyed that common interest will lie in the reconstruction of a world order in which peoples can peacefully work out their own destinies.

Achievement of victory over Hitlerism is the supreme common task today. In the name of Lincoln and Lenin we devote all our capacities to that goal.

Great events are taking place. Hitler's armies on the eastern Front are being encircled and annihilated, one after another. All history contains nothing to compare with the mighty deeds of the Red Army under the guidance of Stalin. They have turned the tide of war swiftly in favor of the United Nations. They have brought victory within reach.

The brilliant military occupation of North Africa by American forces, the heroic actions in the South Pacific which halted the Japanese and threw them back, the re-certed smashing attack by all the United Nations which can break the backbone of the Axis.

We must be profoundly dissatisfied, however, with the contribution which our country, the United States, has so far made to winning victory in 1943.

The Conference at Casablanca gives us promise that America's might will be thrown soon into the scales of war. It is high time that this were so. Laggards cannot win this war; victory does not come "at leisure."

Hitler's Victory in Congress

At this moment when the black clouds of doom gather over Hitler and his armies, Der Fuehrer has gained one brilliant victory. To our shame we must confess that Herr Shicklgruber's single victory was won in the United States, in Washington, in Congress. By a vote of 302 to 94, the House of Representatives endorsed Martin Dies, the clearest and most consistent exponent of Hitler's policies and slogans within the United States.

If the Congress of the United States is still an important policy-making body of our government, this latest endorsement of Martin Dies must be looked upon as one of the most sinister threats to victory in the war, and to the future of our country. For Martin Dies has declared that he hopes for the defeat of our ally, the Soviet Union; he has slanderously denounced Joseph Stalin, Commander-in-Chief of the Red Armies, as the chief enemy of our country; he has echoed all the slogans of Hitler and promoted them; and now the majority in Congress has renewed its declaration of confidence in that same Martin Dies and all he stands for.
